DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 52 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is unclear how claim 52 further limits claim 49, from which it depends. All the limitations of claim 52 are found in claim 49.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 49-52 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 17-38 of U.S. Patent No. 6,606,866. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims 17-28 and 47-52 of the patent claim structure which is not patentably distinct from the current method and claims 29-46 of the patent claim the same inventive concept, a method for cooling a fluid using thermoelectric means with segments that are thermally isolated from each other to thermally treat a fluid which is passed over heat exchangers associated with the thermoelectric elements in a direction away from the axis with only minor, obvious grammatical differences. In regard to claims 17-28 and 47-52, the claims are not patentably distinct since the currently pending method claims cannot be performed without the patent structure and vice versa. In regard to claims 29-46 the claims differ only in grammatical differences that one of ordinary skill in the art would consider obvious variances which cover the same method steps as previously patented.

Claims 49-52 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 49-72 of U.S. Patent No. 6,539,725 in view of Attey. Applicant's prior patent claims the same inventive concept, a method for forming a thermoelectric system by forming a plurality of thermoelectric elements into an array which are thermally isolated from each other and forming a heat exchanger on both sides of the thermoelectric elements to provide flow paths for a heat transfer fluid, substantially as currently claimed with the exception of flowing the heat transfer fluid away from an axis of the heat exchanger. Attey shows this feature to be old in the thermoelectric heat transfer art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention from the teaching of Attey to modify applicant's earlier claims by forming the heat exchange surfaces to flow the heat transfer fluid away from the axis to provide a compact and efficient heat transfer device.
